

PRIVACY POLICY

You are most welcome to the HOFIT web-site; please be informed that by accessing it you accept the contents of this Privacy Policy Document. Please read also our Legal Notes.

HOFIT considers it important to protect your Personal Information; the policy outlined below will help you understand how information collected in connection with you accessing this site is dealt with.

Personal Information

HOFIT will not collect any Personal Information about you (e.g.: name, address, telephone number, e-mail address, others), unless you, willingly, provide it by registration or by submitting us an inquiry.

When you submit your Personal Information, we usually use them to process your inquiry and to support our customer relationship with you. Personal Information might be stored in our Archives for future reference and/or to contact you for Marketing purposes.

Personal Information is not transferred to any Third Parties.

Cookies

When you visit HOFIT web-site so called "cookies" may be stored on your computer; the purpose of that action is to allow us to recognise your computer at any of your visit.

Date and time of your access, which pages of our web-site you visit or which documents you download, among others, are data that may be collected and stored. This Information is not personally-identifiable and it is utilized to monitor the use of our web-site for statistical purpose and help us in optimizing the configuration of the site.

You may set your browser to notify you when you receive a cookie or to refuse receiving it. In that case you may no longer be able to use all the functionalities of the HOFIT web-site.

Linked sites

Please be aware that our Privacy Policy does not apply to Third Parties web-sites you might access through a link in HOFIT web-site and/or if you link to HOFIT site from a Third Party web-site.